I would choose Christmas. Christmas. Because Christmas is a day that you need to gather your family from a far country or far away land. Christmas is the only chance to reunite with them. You need to wear nice clothes or you can buy new clothes. That's our culture because during Christmas, it's a time for buying something special and you can eat something special that not usually you're eating every day, and you need to go to your relatives, visit them, and give them a special gift.

Special food that we eat during Christmas is the king of the feast is lechon. It's a whole pig, a grilled pig that you can put on the center of the table. Three families or it depends how many siblings or how many children they have, let's say, 15 persons. We order that in the special place. We can cook lechon with specific place only.

We give money, cash. It's a very, very long. When September came, that's the start of our Christmas celebration. We're starting to decorate our home, the streets, putting Christmas lights, Christmas trees because that's our culture.

So when the ber, they call it ber because September, October, November, December, so when it's ber came, that's the start of our Christmas and that's our culture. It ends November November. Everything is done.
