E-News No. 15/2019

Welcome

We are happy to welcome Ms. Yip Miu Bing, our new part-time office assistant. She will help us in the afternoons. Please drop by and welcome her.

Student Achievements

Our final-year student Kelly Kam received the 2018 Outstanding Student Awards (Social Service) in recognition of her outstanding achievements in social service and in particular for her service to the CUHK community. Kelly has also been selected as one of the twelve awardees to be featured in the 2019 CUHK Calendar! Well done and congratulations, Kelly!

SPARK - A Festival of Ideas

British Council's Spark Festival, held from 18-20 January at Tai Kwun, celebrates creativity across the arts, sciences and education. Find out more about its programme of interactive shows and stimulating talks here.

Career Talks

Is Google cool enough for you? Do you know you can get certified in digital marketing? Would you like to take a tour of Google Hong Kong office and find out how digital marketing can help you advance your career?

This workshop on digital marketing at Google is organized by the OSA as part of the "Flourishing First Year Programme" and offers a wonderful learning opportunity. Don't miss out!

Research and Publications

Our first-year MPhil student Ross Ng published two papers in international journals. "Critical multimodal discourse analyses of news discourse on Facebook and YouTube" appeared in The Journal of Asia TEFL, and "Code-mixing of Cantonese-English bilingual children with different language dominance patterns" was published by The Journal of English as an International Language.

Outreach

On 8 January 2019, Professor Tay conducted a three-hour Professional Development Workshop for secondary school teachers entitled "Hong Kong Through Images and Imagery" on behalf of the Education Bureau. This is a workshop that helps English language as well as literature teachers explore the teaching of creative writing via visual imagery in the classroom.

The Department wishes everyone a Happy 2019!
